Mission: To feed hungry individuals in Clay, Greene, Knox, Parke, Sullivan, Vermillion, and Vigo counties through a network of emergency food distribution member agencies and engage our community in the fight to end hunger.

Terre Haute Catholic Charities Foodbank is a Certified Affiliate of Feeding America, the National Food Bank Network. Feeding America solicits and distributes donated food and grocery products through more than 200 Certified Affiliate Food Banks nationally. These Affiliate Food Banks in turn serve 50,000 501(c)(3) charitable agencies in all 50 states of the United States.

Our Foodbank:

1. Feeds the hungry by soliciting and distributing food to other charitable agencies in our seven counties of distribution
2. Develops, certifies, supports, monitors, and channels food products to these charitable agencies that provide services to the needy, and
3. Educates the public about the nature and solutions to the problems of hunger

Since 1980, Terre Haute Catholic Charities Foodbank has been providing relief to hungry people in the Wabash Valley. Our energies and expertise, along with the support of the food industry, private contributors, United Way of the Wabash Valley and countless volunteers have helped many to choose between paying for medicine or food, prevent more children from going to school with empty stomachs, and feed more adults so they can be able to work and sustain their families.
